OVER NATURE.Maidens Made Beautiful by Painful Operations—Noses Remodeled and Artificial Eyelashes Inserted—Difficulties of Dimple Making.Every one who desires beauty may possess it to a certain extent in these days of invention," said a curious little man, who has a small workshop in one of the side streets up town, where he carries on a rather peculiar and novel trade."Noses are remodeled," he continued, "fingers made to taper, instead to arch, and my work, that of making dimples and long eyelashes, has added the finishing touches. A handsome face without a dimple is as lost to beauty as a potato without salt is lost to taste. I have but recently set up my establishment here, but in the few months of my sojourn have transformed many a plain girl into a dimpled beauty, and added eyelashes as long as inch to the bare eyelids.""Is the operation of having an artificial dimple made very painful?" queried the reporter."Yes, I should think so, because a piece of the skin is taken right out of the chin or cheek, and that operation is not painless; but I have known girls to stand the operation without a murmur, when they could easily stand the removal of a tooth and find it easier to bear."Women will offer a great deal of agony for the sake of beauty, and a girl knows that a charming dimple will add ten times to her attractiveness, and will make her look more attractive."Just then a timid knock was heard on the door, and in walked a young man of 20, beautiful as Venus, with four or five of the liveliest and prettiest looking in her round cheeks and chin so small and fair as to make them look like diamonds. Hardly did she come for artificial dimples."I wanted to show you how well the dimples were getting on," she said, in a low tone.
"You see, as I thought I that they could not possibly amount to anything—they were so rare and looked so disagreeable, but now I think they are lovely," and she smiled at her own reflection in a large mirror opposite, and then smiled again with delight at the dimples she had made.The dimple maker made a careful examination of the little dimples, and after paying a bill of $100 cash the young lady departed."How much do you charge to make a dimple?" was asked."Well, that depends greatly on the person, whether the skin is tough and hard, and other accidents. My lowest charge for a single dimple is $15, but when I make several on one face the bill is of course somewhat reduced.
It takes about two weeks to make a proper dimple. First I must get the cuticle in proper condition; then the operation, removing a part of the flesh and putting back the skin is accomplished, and that is of course the most difficult part of the process. About ten days are required to completely heal the dimple, and during that time the patient must be very careful not to smile at all or the dimple may be entirely ruined."What kind of people come to me to have dimples made?"Every kind, almost, although you would not believe it. I had a lady of 45 here yesterday, and she gave me an order for three dimples one in the chin and one in her left cheek.
She expects, I rather think, that they will suit her matrimonial prospects. Then I had a man in his 60s last week who paid me $15 for a handsome dimple in his left cheek. The majority of my patients are, however, young girls who consider themselves handsome, but not bewitching enough."

ARTIFICIAL EYELASHES.

The reporter noticed several boxes filled with short curly hair, some jet black and others a golden brown."I get that hair from the barber shops," he said in answer to an inquiry. "It comes from the curly side of some young fellow and is then used by me to make long curling lashes on a female eye.Making long eyelashes is a much more delicate and dangerous operation than making a dimple. I seldom undertake the under-lash, as it is apt to injure the eye. First I remove the old eyelashes one by one, and as each one comes off I put it in a place a long curling eve; then when they are off in full was them over evenly and put a little vasseline about the edges. If the lashes are not there at all I have to puncture little holes in the lid to insert new ones, and then the operation is far more painful and requires greater skill."
